

"I acquired two acres of land in close proximity to my community in Kenya with the intention of establishing Karibu, a haven for women and children.

Named after the Swahili word for "welcome," Karibu aims to offer a refuge for women and children in need of safety and security from various hardships. Operated with utmost confidentiality, our shelter ensures the safety of all residents seeking sanctuary.

Initially, dedicated volunteers will provide essential assistance, security, food, and medical care. The long-term vision involves employing trained professionals in nursing, medicine, education, and other relevant fields to empower women and youth towards independence.

Throughout their stay, residents will receive personalized support, including health assessments, medication, hygiene facilities, meals, and, crucially, a safe environment. Our future plans include workshops tailored to residents' interests and needs, fostering their personal development.

Your support is vital in providing essential resources such as water, bedding, food, medical supplies, clothing, educational materials, and recreational items. Would you consider making a monthly, taxdeductible donation? Your generosity will directly impact someone's life positively.

If you have any inquiries about our shelter's operations or wish to contribute as a donor or volunteer, please reach out to me using the contact details below. Every bit of assistance, regardless of size, is deeply valued and appreciated."
